2. Reasons for announcement of the consolidated earnings forecast for the interim period

The Company had refrained from announcing the consolidated earnings forecast for the interim period of the current fiscal year because the outlook was expected to remain uncertain due to concerns over the impact of soaring raw material and energy prices against the backdrop of heightened geopolitical risks, including those in the Middle East, continued price increases, fluctuations in foreign exchange rates, and trends in economic policies in the United States and China, among other factors.

On the other hand, although the business environment surrounding the Group is expected to continue to change, the Company has comprehensively taken into consideration the information available, recent business performance trends, and other factors, and is announcing the consolidated earnings forecast for the interim period based on its current outlook.

(Note) The above earnings forecast has been prepared based on information available at this time, and actual results may differ from the forecast figures in the future due to various factors.
